DETAILED ACTION

The Final Rejection is withdrawn; prosecution is reopened.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 6, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5041448.

See example 22, compounds 41 and the salt, compound 43, and example 36, compound 139. These are the two species excluded by proviso from claim 1, corresponding to R4 as amino substituted by 4-piperidinyl, with a methyl substituent on the piperidine N for compound 139. However, the claim still covers the compound where there is a methyl group on the piperidine ring, since such compounds are not excluded by proviso. Such compounds are taught by the reference, as R2 can be H or methyl, and compounds with R2 as methyl are seen as #65, and #101.

Attention is drawn to 20040116328, cited previously. This publication has species falling within the instant claims, see e.g. table starting on page 16, when Z1 is N and Z2 is CR2. This document does not appear to be prior art against these claims, as the translation of the provisional application appears to support the instant claims. If any material was added to claim 1 which was not present in the definition of the variables in the provisional applications, applicants are requested to point this out.

Claims 2-5, 9-10 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
